Magic Review BY PAYNE

Ca$h Flow

Juan Pablo

A check visibly transforms into cash

Bazar de Magia

$40.00

So, imagine you are sitting in a sidewalk café sipping your Café Ole while you watch the tourists feed and otherwise abuse the pigeons. Your waiter approaches and presents you with a bill for 13 euro. Did I fail to mention you were having coffee at St. Mark's Square in Venice?

Anyway, as you reach into your pocket and remove a folded scrap of paper, you ask the fellow if he would take a check. "Naturalmente non, sono yo matti?" is his snooty reply which you can only assume by his tone to mean something along the lines of "Are you insane?"

"But I assure you it's good" you say as you unfold it so he can see for himself that it's drawn on that prestigious financial institution, IBM, The International Bank for Magicians.

You think you hear the word "Tourisitco" uttered under his breath as he stands their nose in the air and tray extended.

"I assume that means "No" you reply. "Very well then cash it is"

With that you wave the check and instantly it visibly transforms itself into three 20-euro notes. You pluck one from the cluster and drop it on his tray.

You put the other two in your pocket and in your best Italian manner you pick up your jacket and fling it over your shoulder as you stroll nonchalantly away while saying "Tenere l'alterazione" Which you hope means "keep the change" otherwise all those hours spent on Rosetta Stone were horribly wasted.

This is exactly what you can do with Juan Pablo's new effect Ca$h Flow. And you don't have to try and find a snooty Venetian waiter to do it on either. This trick will play pretty much anywhere you want to perform it. It should play equally well for the stand up and stage performer as it will for the close-up or guerilla street worker. It's the perfect trick to carry with you to add a magical moment to a normally mundane event. It's easily reset and small enough to keep folded up in your wallet or stuffed in your checkbook. So, it's always within reach and ready to perform. It's a little anglely. No one should see the back of the check before the transformation. Once it's changed however it can be cleanly shown on both sides. You just can't hand it out for examination. Unless of course you want your audience to figure out how it's done. The gimmick can hold two regular bills that can be handed out or better yet given away. These bills however will have to be trimmed a bit to fit properly into the gimmick. So, if you plan on doing this more than once a day plan accordingly.

You receive a straightforward and well produced instructional DVD that's both in English and Spanish. Three tricks are demonstrated and explained. Only one of which (the check to cash) that can be performed with the supplied gimmick. Which is constructed out of real one-dollar bills by the way.

But not to fret. The DVD not only has instructions on how to build the necessary gimmick. But also comes with all the necessary supplies to do so. Sans, of course, the bills. So, you can build the necessary gimmicks to perform the transpositions and transformations shown on the DVD. Or better yet, come up with your own effects using this principle. So if you want a clever easy to do and visually surprising effect to add to your repertoire or arsenal Ca$h Flow is well worth a look.

June 's Meeting Report

Once again, we had our meeting via Zoom, "Ring of Fire LIVE". Hopefully, the libraries will be open for meeting soon. Payne told us that he will be performing live at the Camlin Renaissance Fair and has a library show in August. We had a visitor to the meeting Tony Blei. He lived in Las Vegas was a photojournalist and met Siegfried and Roy and Lance Burton, among others. He is into coin magic, has been working through Bobo's Coin Magic. Welcome and come again Tony. Payne showed us another item he got from the Pomeroy estate. It was a large Ball & Vase made from wood. It did not use a shell, but two solid balls. It was made by Collector Workshop. Payne then showed us a YouTube video of himself doing a chop cup routine producing a lemon and 8 ball. Using a move that works best on Zoom or YouTube. He told us he had the script to "Bloody Jack" that he will bring to our next in person meeting. He also showed us a copy of the German ed. Of "Hocus Pocus Jr". printed in 1671.

We are looking at having a club picnic. Reply to voice opinion.

Everyone had a good time.

Hope to see you soon.

See you next Thursday June 10th at 7pm on Zoom See page 2 for info
